Depend on State Department –to Give Panama Canal Away

Each time the Panamanians threaten the takeover of our Panama Canal, we lay a few more million dollars on the line and wait for the next surge of discontent. Much of this agitation is generated from extreme left-wingers in and out of our own government!

We don't have to wait long. The retreat is less long and less deep after each foray. That means the next surge will be progressively more strident.

For all of our concern — and we recognize that Panama is but one foreign worry — it came as a surprise when a recent opinion survey sponsored by the American Council for World Freedom in Washington revealed that 44 per cent of the people questioned confessed that they didn't know who owned the Panama Canal!

Another 21 per cent guesed wrong. Only 35 per cent of those polled gave the correct answer: The United States of America owns the Panama Canal.

As a refresher course in the world of canals let's review a few facts.

The Panama Canal was built and paid for by the United States on land purchased from the country of Panama in 1903. We paid $10 million for the 52-mile long, 5-mile wide strip of land which is called the Canal Zone.

In addition, we have paid Panama a yearly amount which began at $250,000 a year and last year it was $237 million.

Since acquiring the Zone, the taxpayers of the United States have poured over $5½ billion into the construction, operation, and maintenance of the Panama Canal.

About 15,000 people are employed to operate and maintain the Canal, two-thirds of them being Panamanians. Over 120 million tons of cargo are transported on nearly 15,000 ships through the Canal each year, and 70 per cent of that tonnage originates in or is destined for American ports.

The Canal has been of tremendous value to the economic welfare of the people of Panama. More than 40 per cent of Panama's foreign exchange earnings and nearly one-third of its gross national product are directly attributable to the presence of the American-owned and supervised Canal.

The left-wingers, some of whom are in the State Department, have been agitating for the United States to give the Canal Zone back to Panama, which would be somewhat akin to suggesting that we give Alaska back to Russia and the Louisiana Purchase back to France.

Since World War II there have been 13 changes of government in Panama, five of them violent, and the present government is headed by a military dictator with strong Marxist-Socialist learnings.

Under these circumstances, is it your opinion that we should "give back the Panama Canal to Panama?"

If, in your opinion, we should not hand it over, it would be wise to advise President Ford, Senator Cranston and Congressman Van Deerlin in Washington; because, unbelievable as it may seem, that is exactly what certain elements in the U.S. State Department are planning to do, according to a recent report of the U.S. Press Association.

Write a Letter to U.S. P.S.

Don't be taken in by the generosity of the U.S. Postal Service.

That's the agency which big-heartedly delayed an increase of 30 per cent for letter mail until after Christmas cards are mailed.

By withholding the three-cents-a-letter increase until December 28, the service may qualify for some notice under the canopy of true Christian charity.

Now, Congress is asking USPS to cut the increase by 33 per cent. It, too, may qualify for the charity conferment.

If each jurisdiction has its way, the three cent postage increase will be cut by one cent. A dime stamp will cost twelve cents instead of thirteen. That's charity?

If you believe you will benefit by such charity you may want to express appreciation by writing to Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailor, Washington, D.C. 20263.

If you believe you are not now getting enough for your money, you may wish to urge him to lay off some of the high-salaried headquartered executives whose numbers grow with every increase in postage while the service deteriorates.

Ronald Reagan Says:

We do not have to choose between the environment and jobs. We can set a common sense course between those who would cover the whole country with concrete in the name of progress and those who think you should not build a house unless it looks like a bird's nest or a rabbit hole.

Woman Raped in Laundry

A 22-year old woman, doing her laundry Monday evening at the Broadway Gardens Apartments, 7130 London lane, in Lemon Grove, was accosted by a black male, about 24, 6', 180 lbs. while she was folding her clothes, she said.

She told sheriff's deputies that he grabbed her around the neck and threatened to slit her throat if she screamed. Fear of the threat prevented her from calling for help, she said.

He partially disrobed her prior to the act, she said, and kept her on the floor for about five minutes.

She told him her roommate would be looking for her and the suspect then became nervous and fled.

She was treated at Grossmont hospital and sent home.

Transceiver Taken

John W. Musgrave's auto doesn't have a transceiver in it anymore.

It was parked in the driveway of his home at 8004 Drexel ct. in Lemon Grove.

He noticed the transceiver and amplifier missing on Saturday, he told sheriff's deputies. The value, he said, was $450.

Garage Burglarized

A burglar took a tool box and its contents from the garage at the home of Cecil Thurman Faulk, 10321 Elmdale dr., Spring Valley. The loss, said to be $600, occurred Saturday night.

Property Tax Bills Due December 10

According to County Tax Collector December 10 was the last day on which owners of real property in the county could pay the first installment of their 1975-76 taxes without adding six per cent of the installment to their bills, according to County Tax Collector James E. Jones.

Payments received at the tax collector's office by 5 p.m. Wednesday or which were postmarked before midnight of that date were accepted without penalty. Jones cautioned that the six per cent penalty is a flat six per cent of the total installment and not an annual percentage rate.

Every owner of real property in the county should have received by now either a tax bill or an information statement of the amount his lending agency was billed. The tax collector mailed almost half a million tax bills and more than 200,000 information statements before the end of October.

Jones said any property owner who has not received some type of tax statement by now should contact his office at once. Payments or penalties cannot be excused under California law because an owner did not receive a tax bill.

The tax collector's office is located in Room 162 of the County Administration Center, Pacific Highway. The telephone number for specific information or to request a tax bill is 236-3121.

The deadline for the second installment — half of the total tax bill — is April 10.

Child Dies in Camper Fire

Two-year-old Shane Powell died Sunday in a fire that was apparently caused by his brother Guy, age five, who, firemen say, was playing with matches.

The blaze engulfed the inside of a camper parked at 1624 Presioca st. in Spring Valley around noon. The vehicle was not operable at the time, according to Fire Marshal Orville Williamson. He said it was being reconditioned.

The two children were being babysat, Williamson said, but there was no adult in attendance when the fire was started.

The older boy apparently started a cardboard box to blaze which quickly spread to bedding, filling the camper with fire and smoke.

Guy escaped out the back door to summon help, but Shane was left inside.

The two-year-old then crawled through the camper boot into the truck cab, but was unable to go further..

Firemen discovered his body in the cab when they arrived, too late to save him. He apparently died of smoke inhalation.

Both boys were the children of Navy Petty Officer First Class and Mrs. William L. Powell of 1834 Munda rd.

Armed Robbers Take $1,180 From Burger King in L.G.

Local business firms should watch for suspicious actions or events that are out of the ordinary and report them to the sheriff's office," warned Sheriff's detective Richard A. Lindsay following the armed robbery of the Burger King restaurant at 6960 Broadway in Lemon Grove.

The robbery occurred after the Burger King manager, working later than usual, found his auto to have a flat tire about 3 a.m. December 4.

While he was in the process of changing the tire, two men, each armed with a blue-steel revolver, forced David Lane Klocksreben, 26, to reopen the restaurant and open the safe.

He was forced to lie face down and tied, while the men took $1,180 cash from the safe.

The men were described as black males between 20 and 30 and weighing about 150 pounds. One was about 6 feet tall; the other slightly shorter.

Changing Tire

While Klocksreben was changing the tire the two men who had been hiding, brandished revolvers and said "Hold it! Freeze! Don't move or we'll waste you!"

He was forced to turn over his wallet to the pair. They returned it. They took $9 from his pants pocket and returned that, too, saying "We don't want your money. Only the restaurant's," one said.

They also told Klocksreben that they had not damaged the tire — only let the air out.

He was told not to look at the pair as they put the money in an attache case.

Sheriff Lindsay, in his warning, said that businesspeople should contact the sheriff's office regarding anything that appears peculiar in or around their place of business.

"If several people come in without a particular purpose or appear furtive, observe them for a physical description. Get a license number if possible. Call 236-3113 at any hour. That's the main office but patrols are in the area at all times. They will be notified within moments after the report comes in.

The same group will also consider annexation request of the City of La Mesa for part of the area designated by Lemon Grove as part of its proposed city.

Holiday Drunks Target

15 Police Agencies Vow To Stop Drunk Driving

Law enforcement men of 15 jurisdictions will be on the roads during the holidays with the drinking driver as the target.

A combined operation of the California Highway Patrol, the Sheriff's Department and police of 13 San Diego cities was announced at a press conference by CHP Capt. Dick Dolmseth as CHP headquarters at 4902 Pacific highway last week.

The program will put the officers on the road with "each agency directing attention to the drinking driver to give the program enough impact to make this one of the safest Christmas holidays ever," he said.

He said the proposed heavy show of manpower during the operation is "to advise that we will be out there — not just to arrest people — we want to discourage the violation from being committed.

Dolmseth said the enforcement would be strong enough to convince drinkers to have someone drive for them. "700 drunk drivers are arrested a month presently, and the number is growing," he said.

8-Day Exercise

He said the optimum force would be on the roads during the 8-day holiday period December 25-January 1. There is no plan to stop drivers at random this year, he said.

It is the first combined effort tried locally on a cooperative basis and brings into the effort programs by the S.D. County Safety Council, the National Council of Alcoholism and the County Department of Substance Abuse.

Cities involved are Carlsbad, Chula Vista, Coronado, Del Mar, El Cajon, Escondido, Imperial Beach, La Mesa, National City, Oceanside, San Diego, San Marcos and Vista.

Salvation Army Kept Busy During Holidays

Christmas time is a busy time for Salvation Army people.

The organization has a number of projects going with the express purpose of making the holiday season a little brighter for San Diego families and senior citizens.

The Senior Citizens Lounge at the Salvatioin Army is a place where seniors go for coffee and conversation all year round.

For the holidays they are planning their annual Christmas party on Friday the 19th at which there will be musical entertainment and a distribution of gifts from Santa Claus.

They also plan a New Year's party for the 30th.

The Army's League of Mercy is also playing the role of Santa Claus by distributing as many as 3,500 gifts to hospitals, nursing homes, city and county jails, honor farms and others that might otherwise find it hard to enjoy the season.

Sunday is the beginning of distribution days, but work on the gifts has been going on since October.

Adopting Families

Another effort for the holidays is the Army's "Adopt a Family" program in which clubs, groups, organizations and individual families offer to provide Christmas for a specific needy family.

The giver and receiver never meet, and identity is kept confidential, but the Army sees to it that whatever is donated gets to the proper place.

The benefactor group can either provide the actual items to be given, or it can give money and have the Salvation Army prepare the gift bix.

The Army arranges for the recipient to pick up the gifts or, if that is not possible, the gifts are delivered to their homes.

Adopting Seniors

A similar project for senior citizens is also under way under the name "Adopt a Grandparent." It is different, however, in that the Army tries to arrange for the senior to spend Christmas with a family rather than spending it alone and forgotten, as well as arranging for some special gift.

Additional information can be had from Mrs. Anita Wilson by calling 239-8027, or by visiting the Salvation Army Headquarters on Seventh avenue downtown.

SDG&E Meter Reading May Become Bi-Monthly

The California Public Utilities Commission has granted San Diego Gas & Electric authority to begin a pilot program of bi-monthly meter reading in National City to test customer reaction and to guage possible cost savings.

The first monthly bill in each bi-monthly period will be based on estimated consumption, and the second monthly bill will be based on meter registrations less the estimated consumption on the first month's bill.

The program started on December 2 and will cover the entire service area of SDG&E if it is determined to be beneficial to both the utility and its customers.

Results of the pilot program will be reported to the PUC by June 30.

By LELORD KORDEL

I am not an advocate of vegetarianism. However, I realize there exist strong religious convictions which reconcile thousands of persons to a meatless diet. And I have no intention of attempting to convert them to a meat diet (although I shall suggest foods that can increase the amount of high-protein in such a diet without materially increasing the bulk.)

All too frequently, enthusiastic vegetarians will convert to their way of eating, others whose health may actually be endangered by this low-protein diet, and who have no strong religious convictions to prevent their adopting a more youth-protecting diet. It is to these fad vegetarians that any efforts at conversion in this chapter are principally directed.

My wife told me not long ago of a couple who unloaded 24 packages of macaroni and spaghetti from their basket onto the checker's stand in a large supermarket.

"We're vegetarians," the woman said to the checker, evidently by way of explanation.

High-Starch Dishes Bad

That's exactly the danger point in most vegetarian diets. High-starch dishes take the place of high-protein foods. And the protein obtained from lentils, legumes, soybeans and nuts is neither a complete protein nor ample enough to counterbalance all the pure starches eaten to satisfy hunger. Actually, many vegetarian diets are nothing more or less than biologically unsound high-starch diets.

Generally speaking, vegetarians fall into three classes: The first group includes those who live mostly on fruits and nuts, and regard all animal food as physically degenerating and morally debasing.

The second group objects to eating animal flesh, either for religious or moral reasons, but includes all vegetable foods, in addition to fruits and nuts. The third group is composed of dieters known as "lacto-vegetarians," that is, they are permitted all vegetable foods plus milk, milk products and eggs, although no animal flesh, either because of sentimental reasons or because of a false notion that a meatless diet makes for better health.

Large Quantities Needed

In the first two groups—those eating nothing except fruits and nuts, and those eating these together with all vegetables — enormous quantities of plant foods must be consumed to provide even a minimum of the body's daily protein requirements. After a time, the human digestive tract is likely to have trouble taking care of so much bulk.

The "lacto-vegetarians" are merely non meat eaters. Since they are obtaining high-grade protein from eggs, cheese and other milk products, theirs is by far the safest vegetarian diet, providing they are careful to supply their bodies with the minerals and vitamins, in concentrated form, which they miss by not eating fish, poultry or red meats.

One prejudice against meat grew up in the old days when a mistaken theory was advanced that "dangerous and toxic effects of putrefying bacteria in the lower intentine" was a result of eating meat. Nothing, of course, could be further from the truth. Any putrefaction that take place in the intestinal tract usually results from half-digested starches in a digestive system that is overloaded with carbohydrates.

Don't bring on protein-starvation, with its accompanying dangers to your health and to your desire to avoid growing old too soon, merely to avoid a vague disorder, not scientifically established.

Properly cooked meats do not implant germs in the body, nor produce toxic conditions in the intestines. The hydrochloric acid in your stomach juices is so powerful a germ killer that by the time the digestive acids finish their job on the meat you eat, it is wholly bacteria-free.

Meat is the most easily digested protein food and is highly nourishing. To shun it for any reason whatsoever is to cheat the body of a high-grade protein that carries with it valuable supplies of minerals, vitamins and other nutrients.

It's next to impossible for an all-vegetable diet to provide your body with an abundance of the essential nutrients so vitally needed if you are to enjoy a long life and a youthful one.

Not True Vegetarians

Time and time again I have had George Bernard Shaw and Mahatma Gandhi pointed out to me as good examples of "vegetarians" who lived long and vigorous lives. Yet here's the flaw in this argument: Neither was a vegetarian in the strictest sense of the word —they simply did not eat meat. Both ate liberally of eggs, milk and cheese, thereby fortifying their bodies with high-grade protein.

If you do not touch flesh food (the most concentrated source of high-grade protein), then by all means you should include ample quantities of eggs, cheese, skim milk powder, buttermilk or other sour milk products, and seed cereals in your daily meals.

Using skim milk powder liberally in cooked and uncooked foods is a splendid way of fortifying a diet with extra protein.

One advantage of a high-protein diet is that you can eat less in bulk, yet be well nourished, whereas the average high-starch diet overloads the stomach, placing a severe strain on a no-longer-quite-so-young heart.

Next: Man's oldest beverage assumes new form in non-fat powdered milk; found full of vitamins, minerals and proteins.

The program continues through January 4 with showing from 1 to 10 p.m. weekdays and 10:30 a.m. and noon to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sundays respectively. Weekday holiday hours of 10:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. begin December 20. There will be four shows on Christmas Day.

Smorin Replaces Carter as Coach At Mesa College

Tom Carter, head football coach at San Diego Mesa College since 1969, has resigned his position and has requested reassignment.

He has been with the Olympian football program since its beginning in 1964. The 1975 Olympian team posted a 3-7 record; overall his teams at Mesa College were 36-30. In 1969 he was named South Coast Conference Football Coach of the Year.

Len Smorin, 43, assistant coach at Mesa since 1969, will succeed him.

Smorin, who lives in La Mesa, was an All State Center at South Bend Riley High School, hometown of the fighting Irish of Notre Dame. He was recognized for Rocky Mountain Conference Honors while attending Idaho State U. in 1952. He graduated from S.D. State in 1956 and received his Masters Degree from N. Arizona in 1964.

The tourney will be held at Rancho Penasquitos Country Club June 22-24.

Towle said it will draw players from all over the United States but that a maximum of 50 contestants will be accepted in each group based on lowest handicaps. He said a decision on separating the field by sex was yet to be made.

He said that Bobby Sherman, who was present at the announcement conference, would be in and out of the promotion as his commitments allowed.

Recording, TV, Star

Sherman is a popular recording, television, and concert artist. He has four gold singles and three gold albums to his credit and one year performed 113 concerts.

His TV credits include "Mod Squad," the "Sonny and Cher Show," "Here Come the Brides," "Shindig" and his own show last season "Getting Together." His income, it is said, is in seven figures.

The tournament he is sponsoring at Penasquitos will award the $20,000 in prizes —which will be in college scholarships: $2,500 to each first place winner in each age group; $1,500 to second place winners in each group.

Boy Cyclist, 15 Qualified for Motocross Finals

ANAHEIM — A 15-year-old motocross sensation from Arizona, Vic Darelik, Jr., has qualified to race in the American Motocross Finals in Anaheim Stadium Saturday.

Darelik, who last week won the Arizona Open Class Motocross Championship for 1975, is the youngest rider to qualify for the $20,000 American Motocross Finals.

The young Yamaha-riding champion from Phoenix joins a top field of American champions in the race, including all three AMA National Champions for 1975: Marty Smith (125cc), Tony DiStefano (250cc), and Jim Weinert (open class). Jim Ellis, winner of all 1975 stadium motocross events, will also race at Anaheim, as will Marty Tripes, two-time winner of the Oly Superbowl of Motocross.

Additional new riders, all from California, signed to compete in the December 13 event include Rich Eierstedt (Norwalk), Gary Chaplin (Cayucos), Rich Thorwaldson (Cerritos), and Gary Jones, three-time national 250cc champion.

Five Griffs Win SCC Grid Honors

Five Grossmont College football players received all-South Coast Conference football honors for efforts during the 1975 season. Two others received honorable mention.

Named to the first team were sophomore tight-end Dale Waasted, who caught 30 passes for 344 yards and one touchdown, and defensive tackle Chris Malmgren, a sophomore transfer from Kansas State U.

The second team selections included Griffins Mike Ramirez, a safety, and defensive end Jerry Cantwell, and running back Larry Downs. All three are sophomores.

Downs was Grossmont's leading rusher for the second year in a row as he charted 608 yards on 143 carries. He also led the team in scoring with 42 points.

Grossmont's two honorable mention recipients were wide receiver Don Kramer and defensive tackle Scott Moore. Kramer, surprisingly passed by for either first team or second team all-conference honors, caught a conference-leading 55 passes for 608 yards and four touchdowns.

Moore, who played both tackle and nose guard on defense, will return to the Griffins next year as he is only a freshman.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

With the passing of the days, Thanksgiving included, wraps are now off all those signs hanging around proclaiming it to be "Holiday Buying" time.

Folks around and about are into bargain hunting, gift buying, layaways and other assorted procurements to be given or shared in tune with a fat guy slidin' down roof tops wearing a red suit and needing a shave.

Not so with the contingent of San Diegans ridin' the tradin' trail in far off Hollywood this week. Not to be mistaken for the slight slum of Los Angeles, this Hollywood is in hurricane country south of Miami in the Florida tidelands.

This is rough country for tradin' types. Full of rip tides, high water marks, alligators and sharks. And that's not even considering there are Pirates, Braves, Indians, Reds, Giants, Tigers and Texans sittin' right down at the tradin' table. It ain't your everyday country swappin' meet.

Officially, it's the 74th annual Major League Baseball Winter Meetings, and you can bet your sweat shirt each of the 24 major league contingents showed up with a shoppin' list equated roughly to where they finished the season.

And things are not at all different for the half dozen or so guardians of San Diego Padre fortunes in attendance.

"It's not fair to say we have a shopping list," protested Padre son, heir, Vice President and General Manager Peter Bavasi. "We are looking to improve our offense."

And indeed they should. The need is mightily apparent. Last semester the Padres were offensive because of their lack of it. As a team, they registered just 505 runs batted in. It's a matter of some embarrassment they drew 506 walks.

"What do you want?" Peter was asked, "a high average hitter or a power guy?"

"Yes," he answered. "Which? Either or both."

"We're looking for offense, especially from the right side. We started talking about possible player trades with each of the other 23 clubs right after the season ended. Coming into this week, we were down to serious discussions with six or so."

"What about the names kicked around in print lately, like Doug Rader (Houston), Don Money (Milwaukee), Richie Zisk (Pittsburgh) and George Hendrick (Cleveland)? Some writers had the Padres right on top of making a deal for one of those guys."

Peter's response seems likely to stir up a herd of females stampeding the majors for front office jobs. Baseball tradin' is a shoppers paradise.

"If each club offered one of its 40 players (the allowable winter roster) to each of the other 23 clubs, there would be 920 possible offers.

"Now, if each of the 23 clubs made a matching offer, you would have nearly 90,000 possibilities. And when you go into combinations of players of cross deals with three or more clubs, the figures get astronomical. No deal is ever really set, until it's made. No matter what writers write."

What a business for the ladies. Shopping around for viable hunks of macho to be dressed in pretty colors and sent forth to sweat and battle for the pleasure of a fee paying assemblage. It's a distaffer's dream.

Peter conceded a deal would, most likely, be made this week. The inter-league trading deadline is supposed to expire during the meetings, but that is mostly a formality, often unheeded or inobserved by general agreement.

For trade bait, the Padres are blessed with an abundance of raw, unpolished talent, on one end of the scale, and a considerable assortment of aged accomplishment, on the other.

They have a surplus of left handed batting outfielders and some fine defensively talented infielders. Perhaps they could even part with a pitcher or two. And the blessing is, what they have to offer, others want some of.

But they need sock. Right-handed sock, if you please. And if they happen to get a high average slugger that can also play third base there would be great rejoicing in the Padre wigwam and a contender on the field.

When you stop to think about it, Christmas shopping can be fun, even for sports guys. Sometimes sports ain't all business.

Window Kicker

A passerby — thought to be a friendly saloon habitue— kicked in the lower section of the window of Casa Furniture at 9920 Campo rd., Casa de Oro, about 5 p.m. November 28.

The store owner said the replacement cost would be $200.

The San Vicente Racquet Club will be open for public viewing of the Pro-Am Doubles Tournament on all eight days.

S.D. State Booked For Stadium Game

The S.D. State U. baseball team will get its first chance to play in San Diego Stadium when it hosts perennial collegiate power USC in a 4:30 p.m. game on April 28.

The Aztecs and Trojans will play before the regularly scheduled game between the San Diego Padres and Chicago Cubs which will start at 7:30 p.m.

The Padres have donated 6,000 Plaza reserved seat tickets to San Diego State which will allow the fans to see both the Aztecs and Trojans, and Padres and Cubs games. Those tickets will be available after March 15 at the Aztec Center Ticket Office on the State campus and at Aztec home baseball games for $2. Plaza seats normally sell for $3.50.

"We're delighted to play USC in the Stadium," said Aztec coach Jim Dietz. "The game will mark the first time the Aztecs have played baseball in the Stadium and the first time in over 10 years USC has played in San Diego. Buzzie Bavasi of the Padres has been generous to let us play before the Padre game. We hope we can give the fans a good show."

The Aztecs plan a 61 game baseball schedule for the 1976 season. San Diego State will play 39 games at home and 22 on the road. Included among the opponents are three games with USC, three with UCLA, eight with Arizona, two with Utah and six with Loyola.

The Axtecs open on February 8 against the Alumni. Of the 39 home games 13 are set as day games and 26 either night games or twilight contests at Smith Field on campus.

Cosell and O.J. Here Monday For Final Charger Home Game

Howard Cosell will be in San Diego Monday.

So will Joe Namath

Both are formidable.

Fans will be able to see the Charger-Jet game and Joe Namath starting at 6 o'clock.

Only those fans outside the San Diego and Los Angeles broadcast area will be able to see Cosell. The game will not be telecast locally.

The Chargers are riding high on the crest of a one-game winning streak and if they can contain "the Juice" they may stretch to two.

The Jets have suffered a nose-dive, too. They snapped their 8-game losing streak Sunday by beating the New England Patriots 30-28 at Foxboro.

The Chargers ended their streak at 11 by defeating the Kansas City Chiefs 28-20.

Monday's game, which starts early, is the last home. 20,000 large, color pictures will be handed out Monday.

Looking Back

Here's how the previous Monday night games looked. All were spectator spectaculars:

October 12, 1970 — a 14-yard field goal by Dale Livingston with 3:39 remaining gave the Green Bay Packers a 22-20 victory before a crowd of 53,064.

The Chargers had overcome a 19-6 lead with two fourth-quarter touchdowns only to have Willie Wood intercept a Marty Domres pass.

November 15, 1971 — Dennis Partee kicked a 45-yard field goal on the last play of the game to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 20-17 before 46,486. The Cards tied the game with only 17 seconds left. An unsuccessful onside kick followed by the Cards and a 16-yard pass from John Hadl to Gary Garrison set up Partee's winning kick.

November 13, 1972 — A 47-yard touchdown bomb from Mike Phipps to Frank Pitts with 41 seconds remaining gave the Cleveland Browns a 21-17 victory before 54,205. The Chargers had taken the lead with only 1:21 left on a three-yard touchdown run by Mike Garrett.

Rickey Young, Star

Last week, sparked by Rookie running back Rickey Young, the Chargers rallied 14 points in the last quarter to win.

"Next to winning, the best I know a team can do is not to quit," coach Tommy Prothro said. "Our team didn't quit today and all year."

The Chargers gained a season high of 412 against 232 for the Chiefs.

Young celebrated his 22nd birthday by rushing 124 yards with a 4.9 average and scored two touchdowns despite bruised ribs and a sprained ankle.

Game balls went to Young, Pat Curran and Tom Graham. Coy Bacon should have had one — but didn't.

Next week the Chargers end the 1975 season with the Bengals at Cincinnati on Sunday December 21.

Andy Musser and Dick Van Raaphorst will air the game on KSDO locally.

Frank Gifford, Cosell and Alex Karas will do the nationwide ABC coverage.

Buses For Charger-Jet Monday Game

San Diego Transit buses will be in service starting at 4:30 p.m. for the San Diego Chargers/New York Jets football game to be played at the San Diego Stadium. Kickoff time will be 6 p.m. Riders can board the stadium specials at the southwest parking lot of Grossmont and College Grove Shopping Center.

The stadium fare is 50 cents a trip.

Globetrotter Tickets Ready

Meadowlark Lemon and his gang, better known as the Harlem Globetrotters, will be in San Diego in January for two appearances.

Both will be on the same day — Sunday January 25, at the Sports Arena. There will be a game at 2 p.m. and another at 7.

Meadowlark, known as the Clown Prince of basketball, again is player-coach of the famous Trotters. They will take on the New Jersey Reds, led by owner-coach-player Louis (Red) Klotz, in the contests here.

Sigma Delta Chi, which sponsors the Trotters' visits here annually, uses proceeds of the game for their journalism scholarship fund. Tickets are now on sale at $6.50, $5.50, and $4.50. They can be obtained at Bill Gamble's Men's Stores, Montgomery Ward stores, all arena agencies and at the Sports Arena box office.

The Trotters, in their 50th season, are better than ever for the new season, Meadowlark informs the Sigma Delta Chi.

"We're better because we're f nnier this season," Meadowlark said. "We have come up with a lot of new funny stuff to make the fans laugh. We guarantee a lot of laughs."

Lacroix and Mariners Home for Arena Pair

Center Andre Lacroix has regained the touch that makes him the World Hockey Association's all-time scoring leader and it might come just at the right time for the San Diego Mariners.

Lacroix and his mates are home for a pair of 7:30 p.m. Sports Arena clashes against Indianapolis, Thursday, and Cincinnati, Saturday.

Lacroix established a major league mark by scoring in 32 straight games last year enroute to his second WHA point title in three seasons.

After a slow start in the current campaign, the "magician" picked up two assists against Edmonton, November 2, and now has reeled off 16 consecutive games without being blanked. Lacroix has totaled seven goals and 21 assists during that span.

Lines Switched

Mariner coach Ron Ingram has done some line switching and now has Andre paired with wingers Gene Peacosh and Norm Ferguson, the team's top two goal scorers with 16 and 14 respectively.

That puts center Ray Adduono between John French and Gary Bredin and leaves intact the kid trio of center Joe Noris and wingers Kekin Devine and Alec Tidey.

Lacroix' spurt has elevated him to the club leadership with 32 points while Peacosh has 27, Adduono, 26, Ferguson, 24, and Noris, 21.

Defensively, ex-National Leaguer Brent Hughes and veteran Bob Wall have been the most consistent blue liners.

The Mariners have a 10-11-2 won-lost-tied record and are locked in a battle with Minnesota for second place in the WHA's Western Division behind Houston.

Caliente Jackpot Tops $130,000

TIJUANA — With the favorites winning at an unusual rate over the weekend, racing fans at Agua Caliente were able to cash a lot of tickets on individual public choices, but were unable to come up with a lone winner in the 5-10 contest.

As a result of the large number of persons able to select six winners in the 5-10 contest on both Saturday and Sunday, the reserve jackpot climbed to $131,576 and unless there is a single winner on Saturday, the pool will be divided on Sunday. One-half of the pool will be distributed to the winners and the remainder will constitute the start of a new reserve jackpot.

The favorite won 12 out of 22 races over the weekend at the Tijuana track and were in the money 14 times all told. Lowest price of the weekend was the $3.40 to win paid on Yukon Trail in the feature race Sunday. The public choices romped home first in five of the six races in Sunday's 5-10 sequence.

Glider Hijacked

While Charles Michael Eberle of El Cajon was at the Spring Valley Swap meet Sunday, someone opened his VW van and removed a folded hang glider worth $1,000.

Tucson Pro-Am Draws S.D. Raquetball Star

Charlie Brumfield, the world's top-rated racquetball player, heads a strong San Diego group of professionals entered in the Tucson Pro-Am Tournament starting tonight.

Brumfield, who in 1974-75 won the sport's four major championships, will be making his first competitive appearance as a member of the playing staff for San Diego-based Leach racquets. He is top seeded in the $5,000 Tucson event.

Other San Diego players entered include Steve Serot, top money winner last year, and Steve Keeley, former national champion. Both also play for Leach.

Lightweight Tijerina Tops Tuesday Night's Fight Card

Professional boxing resumes at the Arena Tuesday night under the auspices of Danny Millsap with Carlos Tijerina, a San Diego lightheavy meeting Buddha Brooks of Los Angeles.

A companion 10-rounder will pit Manny Lujan, last year a San Diego high-schooler against Reuben Corio of Mexico City.

Lujan, until December, boasted a 25-0 record but he was embarrassed last week in a fight in Tecate. It was his first loss and it came at the Plaza de los Toros Bullring in Mexicali. The winner was Julio Leal, who Lujan fought to a draw earlier this year.

In a semi-windup John Lujan, Manny's brother, will make his first appearance in a six-rounder against Juan Morales.

The opener is a four-rounder with San Diego's Santiago Meza testing Joe Da Baker of Los Angeles.

Millsap said there had been requests for fights on Tuesday and for starting the card a little later — at 8 p.m. Tickets are in the medium price area with a spread of $2.50, $4 and $5. Tickets include parking without charge.

Reservations may be made at 224-4176 between 9 and 5 daily.

Hockey Sharks Suffer First Loss

The San Diego Sharks lost their first Pacific Southwest Hockey League game Sunday when the L.A. Bruins beat them 7-4 at the Mira Mesa House of Ice.

Sharks coach Al Strep credited the Bruins goalie John Ford with keeping the Sharks from stretching their undefeated string. Ford had 33 saves and took some hard shots from the Sharks all night. The Sharks had 37 shots on goal to the Bruins 28.

Sharks scoring was by Bruce Allen, Mike Garcia, and Marc Metzler in addition to Fitzpatrick, each with one goal. Former Gulls star Willie O'Ree had two assists for a team-leading 24 points so far this season.

Sunday, the Sharks take on the Anaheim Flyers at Mira Mesa. Last time out, the Sharks and Flyers tied at ten apiece. This is their second meeting together. Face-off time is 7:30 p.m.

World Tennis Draws Today

The San Diego Friars will have the first and third selections in the World Team Tennis draft scheduled today in New York.

Several established players are available to the Friars from the draft but Allan Kingston, team president, said the team would draft only those who have indicated a willingness to play the WTT schedule.

L.G. Family Loses $2,250 to Burglar

Valuables worth $2,250 were taken from the residence of Merlyn Randall Beyer of 8512 Golden ave., Lemon Grove on November 30th, according to sheriff's deputies.

The intruder entered a kitchen window but his point of exit could not be ascertained.

In the loot was an antique clock, two teevees, a radio, tape deck leather coat, silver bracelet, turquois necklace and other items.

To add insult to injury, the loot was carried away in a pillow case which was taken from the Beyer home.

CIF Championship At Stake Friday

It's for the CIF Championship.

It'll be played at the San Diego Stadium Friday.

It pits Granite Hills against Oceanside in the San Diego High School version of the Superbowl.

Oceanside is a slight favorite. Its defensive team has posted six shutouts this season.

Granite Hills has lost its top running back Mark Christowski.

Kickoff is 8 p.m. and admission is $2.50. Students and children, $1. All seats are general admission.

Both schools will sell tickets and on Friday, tickets may be obtained at the Stadium 10 a.m.-8 p.m.

Parking is $1.

The game will be broadcast live over KSDO.

Musical Equipment Lost

About midnight November 1, when Thomas James Ferrare, of 3627 S. Cordoba, Casa de Oro returned from a trip, he reported to sheriff's deputies that his residence had been burglarized of items worth $750.

The lost possessions included a stereo, amplifier, LP records and a supply of 8-track tapes.

UW/CHAD Drive Extends Finale

East County volunteers responsible for the United Way/CHAD 1975 Combined Campaign have extended their tour of duty to Monday, December 15 in hopes of reaching the East County $273,787 goal.

The end originally was November 26.

"With 85.3 per cent of the East County goal announced on November 26," said Hardy Kuykendall of La Mesa who is East County United Way/CHAD campaign chairman, "we have an excellent chance of achieving our goal with this added time.

"To this point in the campaign we've worked hard and enjoyed much success, but we can't stop now. An extra effort on the part of all of us is what is required, and I have asked all East County volunteers for this additional support through Monday.

Food Stamp Program Revised for January

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has adopted revisions for determining food stamp allotments, and has also revised coupon allotments, purchase requirements and maximum income eligibility requirements.

The changes are effective January 1st.

The amount of coupons alloted for a four-person household is increased from $162 to $166 per month, with similar adjustments for other household sizes.

The maximum eligibility level for a family of four is correspondingly increased from $540 to $553 per month.

The economies of scale to be used to determine allotments to multi-member households, based upon allotments to four-member families, are somewhat more generous to households of six or more persons than those used formely in all USDA food plans.

The Food Stamp Act directs that coupon allotments be adjusted twice a year to reflect changes in food prices as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The cost for the period January to June, 1976, was determined at $166 for a family of four with two school children.

Revenue Day Shatters Business Tax Record

A new revenue record was established on November 3, according to John W. Lynch, state Board of Equalization chairman, when a total in excess of $170 million in business tax payments was processed and deposited in a six-hour period by Board employees.

Lynch reports that this is the highest single weekday total deposited in the 96-year history of the Board, shattering the previous high set June 23, 1975 when the total topped $122 million.

The largest share of the funds represent sales tax payments for the third quarter of 1975.

Desert Maps in Test Printing

The U.S. Bureau of Land Management has announced the publication of a new series of maps detailing the roads and trails and the millions of acres of recreation and resource lands of the California deserts.

The four-color maps show areas that are open, restricted or closed under BLM's California Desert Vehicle Management Program.

They also show features such as springs, camping areas and natural and cultural sites to help visitors use the desert safely, according to the BLM.

The first four maps in a series of 24 that will cover the entire desert have been printed and are being distributed on a limited basis for review. These "first generation" maps will be distributed to user groups and government agencies for review and comment. Surplus maps will be made available to the general public for $1 each.

When evaluations are received and corrections made the maps will be placed on sale to the public for $1.

The four maps cover the Turtle Mountains, Sacramento Mountains, New York Mountains and the Midway Well areas, all in the Riverside and Bakersfield districts.

Excursion Craft in Boat Light Parade

S.D. Harbor Excursion will offer a close-up view of the annual S.D. Bay Christmas Boat Parade of Lights, Sunday, December 21.

More Fly AirCal

Air California carries 136,220 passengers during the month of November, reflecting a 25.6 per cent increase over the 1974 total.

Thanksgiving holiday travelers and new market services added this year were factors affecting the increase,

Judges Arrange Program For New Attorneys Here

Judges of the San Diego Municipal and Superior Courts will conduct the semi-annual orientation program for the newly admitted attorneys in San Diego County Wednesday.

The day-long program introduces new attorneys from every part of the County to some of the practical situations connected with their new careers. The State Bar of California in its semi-annual examination, has approved 275 new attorneys to practice in San Diego County beginning December 16.

The program moderated by Judge Cantos, chairman, and Superior Court Judge Louis M. Welsh features presentations by judges of the Municipal, Superior, and Federal Courts relative to the calendars, operations, and procedures of various special departments of each Court.

The new attorneys are also briefed on a variety of subjects by court officials and members of the Bar.

Additionally, they receive kits of material designed to aid them in their practice of law.

Five Spring Valley residents are among the newcomers:

Keith L. Haydon, Jr., 2913 Central ave.; James J. Dobbin, 1368 Darby st.; Raymond E. Monce, 2035 Helix st.; Barbara Ann Pennell, P.O. Bix 5566, and Walter D. Proffitt, 10285 Ramona dr.

GOP and Labor With Kindred Concerns: Bell

Republican Congressman Alonzo Bell, recently reviewing the two-party system for 600 high school delegates to the California Junior State fall convention, said that one of the best short-term opportunities for Republican recovery is through alliance with an old adversary, American Labor.

"The New Left, which now controls the Democratic Party, clearly is not going to enjoy the kind of loyalty from the nation's labor force that Democrats once could take for granted.

"Rank and file Republicans," said Bell, "today share with rank and file members of labor concerns on these fronts:

- a growing distaste for uncontrolled spending and federal deficits.
- a sense that government in Washington is growing too big and too intrusive in our private lives.
- a belief that radical social remedies (such as forced busing of students) can do more harm than good.
- a conviction that the United States should stop trying to buy friends throughout the world.
- a skepticism about the United Nations, as it is presently constituted.
- an attitude of great suspicion about detente with the Soviet Union.
- a belief that the United States must be kept militarily invincible, and
- an awarness that in the future we must be far more careful about the men we commit to battle overseas.

"These beliefs reflect the new conservatism in the United States based upon lessons learned so painfully in recent years," he said.

Bell seeks to unseat U. S. Senator John Tunney in the national election next year.

Final Hearing on Nursing Homes To Be Held Sunday

The last in a series of five public meetings to receive and investigate complaints about nursing home care in San Diego County will be held Sunday.

The meeting, along with the four previous ones, is being sponsored by the County's Blue Ribbon Task Force on Nursing Home Care. The creation of the task force was authorized in early November by the County Board of Supervisors.

The meeting will be held 1-5 p.m. in Room 358 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway in San Diego.

The task force was charged with holding five regional meetings in November and December to receive complaints, weigh their validity, investigate as possible, review criteria for nursing home care and develop cost figures related to nursing home care. The task force is scheduled to report its finding and recommendations to the Board of Supervisors by February 3.

Public participation at the December 14 meeting is encouraged.

Christmas Pageant At Mount Vernon Elementary School

The Mount Vernon Elementary School is holding a Christmas Pageant today at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Participating in the program will be grades Kindergarten through third, each class performing their own interpretation of Christmas. Fabian Lance, third grade teacher, is co-ordinating the festivities.

Services Expanded for Severely Disabled; 'Creaming' to End

Only disabled persons having moderate to severe disabilities will receive vocational rehabilitation services from the State Department of Rehabilitation at the present time, it has been announced by State Director of Rehabilitation Edward V. Roberts.

"The severely disabled will have the highest priority," he said. This category includes the blind, deaf, quadriplegics, persons suffering from severe cases of orthopedic, epileptic, cardiac, circulatory, respiratory and mental impairment and multiple sclerosis and muscular dystrophy.

"Our action stops the practice of "creaming" whereby only those persons with less severe disabilities are helped," said Roberts, himself a quadriplegic. "This resulted in high statistics about the number of rehabilitations achieved. Consequently severly disabled people were excluded from service because their cases were considered more difficult and costly. This has changed."

Roberts said the department intends to serve as many people as it can under the new policy but with the recognition that there will be increased costs in serving the severely disabled, and a decrease in the number of people served.

DMV Records First Fatality

For the first time in the 60-year history of the California Department of Motor Vehicles, a drivers license examiner has been fatally injured in an auto accident while conducting a drive test.

Vincent W. Jones of Long Beach died Novemer 26 in a Long Beach hospital from injuries suffered in an accident Friday morning, November 21.

The drivers license applicant whom Jones was testing was a 23-year old Long Beach housewife. She also sustained injuries in the accident which involved a city transit bus.

Mr. Jones, who would have been 62 years old on December 5, had been a drivers license examiner with DMV since 1951, having given over 132,000 drive tests during the past 24 years. That's more than any other examiner in the world, according to a DMV spokesman. He had never been seriously injured in that time.

DMV Director Herman Sillas said that 450 to 500 auto accidents occur each year during drive tests, about 30 of which result in hospitalization of the examiner. The 500 DMV examiners conduct over 4300 drive tests daily.

D. Heiserman, Dr. Oliphant Named L.G. School Principals

Dan Heiserman, assistant principal at Vista La Mesa school was appointed its principal by the L.G. School District school board Tuesday night.

Dr. Genevieve Oliphant, present director of pupil personnel, was named principal of Mt. Vernon school.

Both will assume new duties July 1.

Heiserman, a six year employee, has been assistant at VLM for the past two years working under Wiley Cornelius, present principal at Mt. Vernon. Cornelius is retiring at the end of the school year.

Dr. Robert Sutton, school superintendent, said the previous arrangement was to reduce district staff. Dr. Oliphant will not be replaced. Her duties will be shared by present administrative staff.

The board discussed plans for the area that would be available for other purposes when the old L.G. School is demolished. The building at School lane and Lincoln was declared unsafe under state earthquake standards long ago and had been used primarily for storage.

Dr. Sutton said that green spot and parking will probably be the best use for the site.

The board did not approve a subdivision in the 69th and Mallard area and requested Dr. Sutton to do a socio-economic study after it was ascertained that the proposed subdivisions of 71 homes were smaller in size than those of the surrounding neighborhood.

"Smaller homes usually mean more youngsters for our schools," Dr. Sutton said.

$1,500 Taken From Safe in Market

$1,500 was the loot taken from the safe in Rouse's Corner Market at 12880 Campo rd., Casa de Oro, Saturday night, Richard Gerald Rouse told sheriff's deputies.

The store was secured at 7 p.m. but when he came to open it Sunday about 8 he discovered the safe open and the contents gone.

Officers opined that the safe had been opened by key or had been left open.

Color it Yellow

A sharp knife and an eye for yellow carpet were ingredients involved in the loss of yards of carpeting in a 10-unit 800 yards of carpeting in a 10-unit apartment complex at 3628 S. Cordoba st., Casa de Oro Saturday night.

The thief kicked in two doors splintering them both to get to the carpet which was already laid.

Orville Raymond Blair, the developer, said the carpeting, yellow Mandarin shag, is worth $480.

Dog Licenses Due Bills $6-$20

The county tax collector will begin mailing dog license renewal applications on December 15 to owners of nearly 10,000 dogs whose licenses expire December 31.

Tax collector James E. Jones said each renewal application will be preprinted to indicate whether the license may be renewed for a one- or two-year period with the present vaccination or if rabies vaccination is required before renewal.

Owners of spayed or male dogs will pay $6 for a one-year license or $10 for two years. The rates for unspayed females are $12 and $20. A late fee of $2 will be charged for payments received after the end of February.

Freebies, Too

Jones said that owners of females spayed after January 17, 1972, are entitled to one free license. Since the free license can be for either a one- or two-year period, he suggets that the owner of a spay whose vaccination expires in a year could purchase a one-year license now and take advantage of the two-year free license next year.

Applications for new licenses are available at veterinarian's offices and other locations throughout the county.

Owners of previously licensed dogs should use the renewal forms mailed out by the tax collector to avoid duplicate billings, Jones said.

Renewal applications will be mailed only to owners of dogs whose licenses expire this year.

Jones said each of these owners should receive a form by December 24.

Egg Cholesterol Not Immediate Danger, UCLA Study Indicates

An egg or two a day may not significantly affect the blood cholesterol in the average person, at least not right away.

This is indicated in a study by doctors of the UCLA Schools of Public Health and Medicine.

The study involved two groups of healthy men who normally ate eggs and who had normal blood cholesterol and blood pressure. One group consisted of 25 men in their 20s, mostly UCLA dental students. The other group was made up of 21 middle-aged men. Males were selected for the study because they are considered greater risks of atherosclerosis.

The young group ate two eggs a day for eight weeks along with their usual cholesterol-containing diet. The older group ate one egg a day for four weeks, then two eggs every other day for four weeks. At the conclusion of the eight-week period, eggs were removed from the diet of both groups for two weeks. Blood cholesterol levels of all individuals were taken at weekly intervals prior to and during the egg diet and egg-free diet periods.

Results indicated no significant differences in average cholesterol levels in either group. Previous studies elsewhere indicated that ingestion of cholesterol results in elevated cholesterol levels in two to four weeks, but the UCLA team says most used specialized diets rather than diets typical of the general population.

Other studies suggest there are individuals with genetic and nutritional interaction that causes them to respond quickly to increased cholesterol in diet. According to the UCLA investigators, it may be necessary to identify "quick responders" in order to accommodate their individual diet requirements.

Extended Hours For Animal Shelters

The County Board of Supervisors has officially authorized Sundays to be included in the six month experimental program of longer hours for the three County animal shelters.

Beginning December 19, until June, the animal shelters will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays and Sundays.

The trial program was prompted by citizen complaints that the current 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekday hours made it difficult for working people to redeem or adopt pets.

The three animal shelters are located at: 1104 Azusa st., San Diego; 8661 Jamacha blvd., Spring Valley; and 2481 Palomar Airport rd., Carlsbad.

Bates, Walsh Named to RETC Policy Board

County Supervisors Jim Bates and Jack Walsh have been named to the seven-person policy board of the Regional Employment and Training Consortium (RETC) for 1976. Bates and Walsh were appointed by the Board of Supervisors to represent the County.

Supervisor Walsh will serve as chairman of the policy board. The chairmanship of RETC rotates on a yearly basis between a representative of the City of San Diego and a representative of the County.

Supervisor Dick Brown was named as an alternate member to Bates and Supervisor Lou Conde will serve as an alternate member to Walsh.

RETC was formed almost two years ago by a joint powers agreement between the County of San Diego and the City of San Diego. The organization is governed by the policy board composed of the following representatives: two members for the County; two members from the City of San Diego; one member each from Chula Vista, El Cajon and the United Way.

RETC is an area wide manpower planning body which serves as a data collection and data processing center for employment RETC also administers some federal funding for employment within San Diego County.

Reservoir Renamed; New Uses Planned

Looking toward the day when the present Grossmont Reservoir becomes a fully developed recreation area, the Helix Water District board of Directors has renamed the site in honor of its President, Harry Griffen

Griffen, who has been a member of the Board since 1951, has been its president since 1959.

"Griffen's leadership has been instrumental in keeping this district moving with the times," said Mabel Bryan, who introduced the resolution to change the name of the site. "He has been a leader in the water industry in San Diego County, in Southern California and throughout the state. It is appropriate that the last major facility that we are likely to build for many years be named in his honor," she said.

A number of proposals are under consideration for the 45-acre site, and the exact form the reservoir will take and the method of financing it are not settled.

It may become a combined concrete reservoir, tennis court and park with mixed local jurisdiction, although financing the development is probably not possible for several years, according to a water district representative.

An environmental impact report is in preparation and scheduled for presentation to the Helix board December 17. A public hearing is tentatively scheduled for January 14.

State Looks to Local Gov't For Freeway 54 Funding

City and County governments are being asked to assume greater and more direct financial responsibility for the construction of freeways in the area, specifically for the proposed Highways 54 and 56.

Highway 54 would connect Interstate 8 at El Cajon with Interstate 805 near National City, intersecting the South Bay Freeway, Sweetwater rd., Jamacha blvd. and Campo Highway.

The Highway 56 plan connects Poway with Interstate 5 near Del Mar.

The California State Department of Transportation (CalTrans) seeks to enter cooperative agreements with local agencies by March 1 or the routes will be dropped from the construction schedule, according to a CalTrans spokesman.

Negotiations are now under way.

CalTrans specifically asks that local governments help by purchasing so-called "protection and hardship" properties that lie in the path of the proposed freeways.

Protection cases involve land that has not been earmarked for development but which may be developed in the future. Purchase is made early so that the cost of acquisition does not increase before construction begins.

Construction on freeways 54 and 56 may not begin for more than ten years, according to Jeff Cohen, spokesman for CalTrans.

Hardship cases are those in which a private owner of property on the freeway route finds that his property values are diminshed because of it. The State agency must account for that loss. Purchase is made so that the added cost is kept at a minimum.

Funding Problems

The State Highway Commissioners cite the growing problems with freeway funding as the reason for the request. Unless local agencies assume some of the responsibility, they say, the routes must be dropped from proposed status.

"If the local people sincerely want and need these routes," Cohen said, "they are going to have to participate in the financial support of them."

However, he said, it would be a long-range investment that may not pan out. Freeways might be obsolete by the time 54 is begun, he said.

Local involvement in property purchase is relatively new to California, according to Cohen. But indications are that it will become more and more prevalent in the future.

County Most Involved

County agencies will be the most directly involved in negotiations with CalTrans, although cities through which the freeways pass will also be concerned.

CalTrans estimates there will be $3.25 million worth of hardship and protection cases on Route 54 in the next three years. The state has already spent $3 million for the right-of-way.

The total cost of route 54 is estimated at $68 million.

Cohen suggested that is local government does not share in the freeway development now, they might find it costing much more when the time for construction finally arrives.

CalTrans officials in San Diego said there has already been much cooperation by developers and local government agencies in freeway planning. They said the goal of preserving the freeway routes is "mutually desirable."

YOU AND YOUR PET

by: Robert L. Stear D.V.M.

Every dog needs regular grooming, regardless of whether it's a $10 wash-and-cut at the local pet shop or a quick brushing twice a week at home.

Good grooming improves more than the appearance of your pet. Besides removing dust and grime, regular combing and brushing discourages skin and coat parasites. It also spreads skin oils through the hair for a glossy coat.

Unless your pet needs special attention for show purposes or complicated trims, you probably can handle the grooming yourself. The tools for the job are simple: a brush (short bristles for short or medium-haired breeds; long bristles for long-haired breeds); comb (fine teeth for short-hair dogs, widely-spaced teeth for wire-haired and long-haired dogs); scissors and nail clippers.

One of the keys to easy grooming is to start your pet when he is young. This will help avoid irksome obedience problems later. Another is to place your pet on a small table or bench so that you can comfortably reach his back and sides. (Make sure that the top has a non-skid surface.) Now you are ready to begin.

Remember that the comb is the basic tool of grooming. Use it to locate and remove snarls and tangles, always working in the direction that the hair is to lie. Start at the head and work back, so that loosened hair and dust will fall away from the combed areas. The brush should be used only to smooth out the coat after the dog has been thoroughly combed.

As you comb, you may find foreign objects like burrs and small twigs caught in the hair. These should be worked loose by hand and removed.

The ears and legs are often trouble spots for amateur groomers. Some owners bypass the ears completely when their dog puts up a struggle. But doing this may lead to the formation of large, bulky mats of hair behind the ears — especially in breeds like collies and spaniels. If left unattended, these mats may have to be cut out at a later date, leaving unsightly gaps in the coat.

The legs should be groomed after the back and sides are finished. Gradually move the comb down the legs, but be careful not to pull the thin skin. You may need an "assistant" to steady your pet until he gets accustomed to the process. Check each paw for burrs or matted hair that can cause pressure or limping.

If your dog needs trimming around the muzzle or feet, move slowly and keep the scissors pointed away from the animal. Be content with trimming only an inch or two until your pet loses his fear of the procedure.

Once a month, check the length of your pet's nails. Dogs that stay inside sometimes develop nails that curve back into the flesh. Using a heavy pair of clippers, remove only the transparent portion of nail that extends beyond the foot pads. You should also check the nail on the dewclaw, or residual toe, that some dogs have just above the ankle.

If your dog has dark nails, have your veterinarian point out the small blood vessel that runs through each toe so that you will not accidentally cut into it.
